THE LONG AND LONESOME HIGHWAY. Misty Horton and Tonya Brown endure a crowded bus ride.

Each period of time brings its own changes to the world. The years 1989-90 were no exception.

From the images of student protests in Tiananmen Square in Beijing to the photos of the Berlin Wall being dismantled, we were constantly aware of the ongoing pursuit of freedom and democracy around the world.

The changes that occurred in the eastern bloc nations were probably the most dramatic. Mikhail Gorbachev made sweeping reforms in the U.S.S.R. His innovative policies gave rise to such things as multi-party elections and a McDonald's in Moscow.

Berlin was the site of one of the most surprising events of the year. The Berlin Wall, after separating Berlin for almost three decades, was torn down.

At home, President Bush won a major battle in the war against drugs when he sent U.S. troops to Panama. Two weeks after the U.S. invasion, Panamanian dictator Manuel Noriega surrendered to the United States.

Natural disasters made headlines throughout the year. Hurricane Hugo left its mark on the eastern coast of the U.S. while the San Francisco earthquake of 1989, shook the western coast. Closer to home, a killer tornado ripped through Huntsville, Alabama in November 1989.

Neighboring Pulaski, Tennessee made national headlines this past year. After an unwanted march by the Aryan Nations white supremacist group in August 1989, Pulaski citizens banded together to prevent the Ku Klux Klan from marching in their city in January 1990.

The events of 1989-90 have certainly transformed our world into a different world.

A Style All Our Own

Styles vary from year to year and from generation to generation. In the fifties it was poodle skirts and ducktails. The sixties brought on the era of long hair and mini-skirts. Bellbottoms and disco music were all the rage in the seventies. In the early eighties, parachute pants and Michael Jackson were in vogue. As the nineties began a new style began to take shape.

We were wearing fashions by Bugle Boy and Guess. Our feet were covered by Nike-Air, Reebok, Eastland, and Dexter. Leather jackets, especially bomber jackets, were in style. Got-cha bracelets, gold jewelry, and designer watches also adorned our bodies.

Among the guys at LHS the "slouch look" was popular. It was composed of ripped jeans, untied high-top tennis shoes, and untucked T-shirts. Another popular look consisted of baggy dress pants, deck shoes, and turtlenecks.

The "slouch look" was also popular with the girls at LHS. For them, it consisted of ripped jeans, tennis shoes, and a T-shirt or sweatshirt. Vests worn over brightly colored blouses and plaid dress pants were also popular.

At the movie theater, we watched Batman and his outrageous car, the Ghost Busters armed with their proton packs, and Indiana Jones' search for the Holy Grail.

Our musical tastes ranged from heavy metal to country to rap. We listened to sounds from Skid Row, Guns 'n Roses, New Kids on the Block, Paula Abdul, Travis Tritt, Randy Travis, Ice T, Tone Loc, and Too Short.

In 1989-90 hairstyles were dictated more by personal preference than by fashion. At LHS a wide array of hairstyles could be seen. For guys as well as girls hairstyles ranged from long to short and from permed to straight.

In short, we developed a style all our own.

TAKING A BREAK. Mr. Peppers, Mr. Augustin, and Mr. Daniel take a break from action in the Beta-faculty volleyball game.

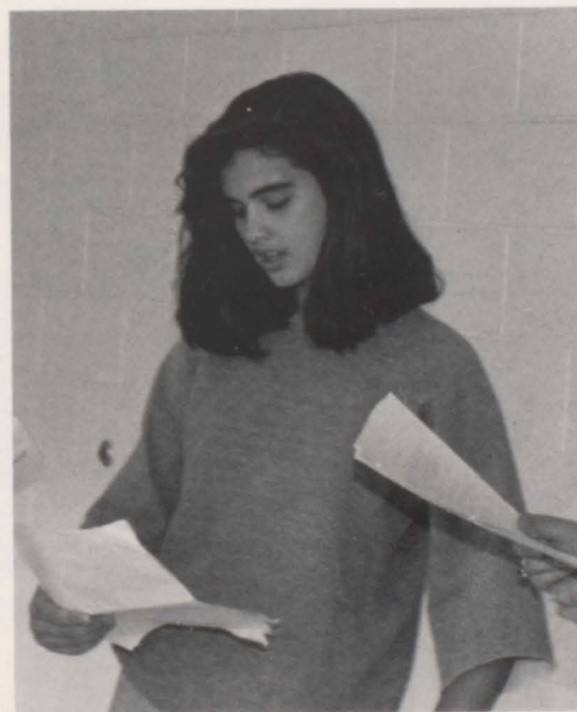

During the 1989-90 school year a new Mustang spirit was present at Loretto High School.

The addition of new faces on the faculty helped to shape the course of the year. Coach Butch Toner, Coach Mark Toner, and Ms. Teena Turner proved to be a great asset to the staff at LHS.

Several new projects were initiated this year. With money from the magazine drive, new metal lockers were purchased to replace the old wooden lockers. The Success Card project was started by the Beta Club to reward students for commendable actions. And, in order to provide enrichment activities for computer students, a Computer Club was established.

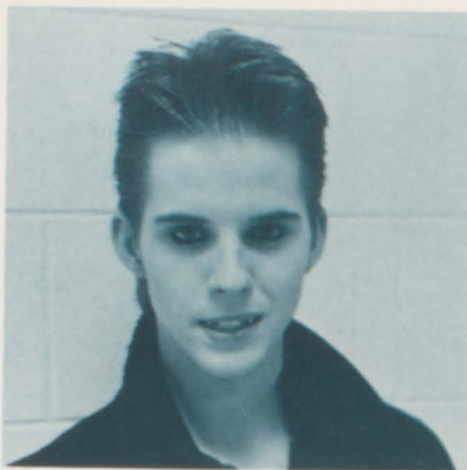

Programs such as the drivers' education class and girls' softball were once again added to the agenda at LHS.

After a ten year absence, the Pledge of Allegiance and the observation of a moment of silence were reinstated. Other changes included the introduction of six-weeks tests instead of semester exams and the installation of a new attendance policy.

Student Life

The sun rose on August 17, 1989, to greet the first day of the school year at Loretto High School. Freshmen arrived and congregated in the lobby in nervous bunches, while seniors coolly breezed in and took their places along "the hall." The school was abuzz with end-of-summer excitement, as students chattered about good times past and those yet to come. The sun rose and set on many more days. Trends came and went, romances blossomed and faded, friendships formed and continued. The autumn glory of football season and homecoming vanished into the first white Christmas in most students' memories. The Winter Formal soon gave way to basketball homecoming and singing valentines. The school musical ended the winter, which melted and bloomed into spring. Then came the cracking of baseball bats, the warmth of the sun, the rustle of prom dresses. Finally, the sun went down on graduation night, bringing to a close another school year. All the events of the year, whirling by at a dizzying pace, left a trail of sparkling memories for LHS students to treasure. Images of the times they spent together will forever live in their hearts . . .

Football Homecoming Creates Lasting Memories.

Few students at LHS will ever forget the look on Misty Horton's face when she was proclaimed queen at the homecoming pep rally. This and many other colorful memories are images that we students carry with us forever.

This homecoming was a special one in several ways. For the first time in anyone's memory, homecoming day was on Thursday.

Also, many students noted the conspicuous absence of a bonfire for the second year in a row. The Japanese Submarine act in the FCA-sponsored talent show, however, more than made up for any shortcomings.

All during the week, the halls were filled with glitter, pompoms, float workers, magic markers, and football jerseys. Floats were constructed by kindergarteners and Pulaski hicks alike to make a grand showing in Thursday's parade.

Seniors Rule!

The seniors took top float honors with their Wild West scene, "Brand the Bobcats." It featured a realistic backdrop, plenty of tumbleweeds, and a genuine stuffed bobcat. "Wild West" by Escape Club and "Desperado" by the Eagles served as background music. A smoking campfire proved to be a headache for senior sponsors Mrs. Barnett, Mrs. Henson-Hunt, and Mr. Peppers, who spent most of the day running after the float fanning the dying flames.

Students spend the better part of homecoming week slaving over their floats, from sunup on Monday until the last frantic moments before the parade starts on Friday. The excitement builds until that night, when the winner is announced at half-time. Then the floats are dismantled, leaving a legacy of tissue paper and glitter that will be remembered for years to come.

Homecoming Memories

ew & Improved

So what's new? Plenty, at Loretto High School. More changes occurred this year than possibly in any other. Most important was the appearance of new metal lockers in section C; students gladly said goodbye to the old wooden cubicles in January. Another major difference was that English by class (freshman, sophomore, etc.) gave way to specialized courses such as composition, drama classics, and oral communications. The bell for class changes was replaced by the infamous "tone," but due to technical problems and popular demand, the bell soon returned. Whittle Communications created a stir with its "Connections" current issues posters in the hallways, and with its Channel One program which came in April. All in all, it was surely a year students will remember.

AN IMMENSE CHANGE. (above) Sharon "Vanna" Henkel demonstrates the fantastic changes the lockers have undergone this year. The lockers were made possible by the magazine drive.

A YEAR TO REMEMBER. (above right) Students show the year of their graduation on jerseys available for the first time this year.

MISS FANCY PANTS. (right) Leigh Ann Thomas models the latest fashion in pants: the baggier the better.

Breaking All the Rules

The student handbook appeared in a jumbo magazine-size version for the first time this year, outlining rules for everything from six-weeks' exams to behavior in the cafeteria. It is packed full of interesting guidelines ("Undergarments are not to be worn as outergarments.") and neat quotes ("Once inspired, the master student is willing to follow through with sweat.") Says the manual: "In attempting to fulfill the broad scope of responsibilities in our philosophy, Loretto High School seeks to challenge students to a productive use of their minds and lives." And you thought you were just taking up another desk!

Seniors Jamie Mattox and Leigh Ann Thomas break all the rules outlined in the new student handbook in one fell blow.

1. Right off the bat, Leigh Ann and Jamie mess up. They are outside, which is a no-no, and presumably they are tardy for class.

2. Caps are not to be worn to school.

3. Cheat sheet in Leigh Ann's right hand is definitely not permissible. Memorable handbook quote: "Cheating prepares a student for failure, not for success."

4. Know when to say when, says Spuds Mackenzie; that is, when not to wear a shirt with the party animal's picture on it. Don't wear it to school.

5. Shorts or miniskirts are not to be worn at school.

*6. PDA alert! This is definitely a Public Display of Affection. Note the "nude" body parts touching each other; i.e., his hand and her knee. Says the manual: "'Courting' should be limited to appropriate places and times."

H omecoming 1990

The second annual basketball homecoming was a spark of excitement in the otherwise dull month of January. From Slob Day on Monday to the final tick of the clock in the boys' contest Friday night, the week was a tremendous success.

The slate of events included many activities: dressing up as a favorite teacher, completing homeroom posters for the spirit contest, and listening to Lisa Byrd sing an original song in the talent show. The Beta Club carried out their spirit chain contest again, challenging each class to accumulate the most 10-cent paper links and earning nearly $600 in the process. The sophomore class won, dooming the other three class presidents to pies in the face. Two queens were crowned Friday; the first was the 1990 Homecoming Queen Christy Steadman. After the ballgames, the students drove en masse to the Civic Center, where they danced the night away.

Although basketball homecoming is a very new tradition at LHS, there is no question that it has already become one to be treasured.

I n Your Face

I n the Spotlight

"The Adventures of Tom Sawyer," the first major theatrical production at LHS in several years, was directed by English teacher Dolly Leighton. It was unique in that it was a musical. This meant many extra hours of preparation for musical director Donna Simbeck and the LHS chorus, which sang as a group in the play and accompanied the actors who had solos. The cast performed for the public on March 16-17 in the auditorium. Performances were also offered for the student body and for the county elementary schools. Based on Mark Twain's novel, the play recounted the story of a boy's adventures in a simpler day. It was performed in honor of Regan M. Jones.

BE THERE. (above) Wayne Simbeck checks out rehearsal schedule on Mrs. Leighton's infamous calendar.

Several students carried major roles in the play. Starring were Jason Ellis as the mischievous Tom and Tracie Swift as his exasperated Aunt Polly. Wayne Simbeck played Huckleberry Finn, and Chris Hood played the whining Sid. Misty Horton and Cara Childress were Becky Thatcher and Mary, respectively, and Dana Franks took on the role of Mrs. Harper. Lastly, Doug Grooms gave an unforgettable performance as a steamboat and as Joe Harper.

BEHIND THE SCENES. (clockwise from top left) There was as much fun to be had backstage as onstage. Adrienne Jones puts the final twist on Bridgette Dover's curls although Misty Horton looks a bit skeptical, cast member and teacher Donna Geise sports a post-rehearsal smirk, and Christy Simpson sits patiently as Angie Matthews gets her ready for showtime.

An immense amount of work went into the construction of sets for the play. Mrs. Leighton's oral communications class took on part of the job as a special six-weeks' project, and worked along with several faculty members.

DANGER: MEN AT WORK. (L-R) Jay Neidert, Brian Leighton, Henry King, and John Kress paint separate movable pieces known as flats for the background.

ONLY GOD CAN MAKE A TREE. Joyce Kilmer seems to have been proven wrong as Michael Robinson affixes leaves to the artificial tree with a hot glue gun.

A ctivities

Getting involved is one of the most important things at Loretto High School — there's more to school than books. Students have the opportunity to be a part of fund raisers, shows, exhibits, contests, and many other exciting activities. No one should miss out on grabbing a piece of the action!

Art Show

On May 20, the art show exhibiting the work of beginning and advanced art students was held in the school building. At right, art teacher Jane Dickson helps a youngster perfect her pottery skills, and student Kim Stanford (far right) displays her prowess with the air brush.

Miss Mustang

The annual Miss Mustang beauty pageant, sponsored by the LHS Band Boosters, was emceed by meteorologist Gary Dobbs. The fourteen contestants modeled sportswear and evening gowns, followed by entertainment by Renae Behel, Cara Childress, and Dennis Davis. Five finalists were then picked, leading to the crowning of Tish Childress as Miss Mustang 1990.

Magazine Drive 1989

Come on down! You're the next contestant on ... no, not The Price Is Right. We're talking about the magazine drive. The only schoolwide fund raiser held at LHS, the magazine sales drive is a lot of work for students. However, most find that the incentives are well worth the extra effort. There are prizes galore for students who are hard workers, making the whole event more like a giant sweepstakes. These prizes range from free soft drinks at break to T-shirts to big cash prizes. The $200 top salesperson award for 1989 was given to senior Karin Beuerlein; the seniors as a class raised nearly $2700 for their own treasury. Dennis Davis won a VCR in the reverse bingo game held at the close of the drive. The top homeroom was Mr. Neidert's physics class (right), who received a banana split party. Overall, the student body raised a whopping $25,000.

H appy Holidays

Holidays at LHS are occasions for celebration! Students are always looking for an excuse to dress up in costumes, send each other balloons and flowers, and, above all, get out of class. Halloween means halls full of witches, sock-hoppers, and Sesame Street characters; Christmas brings carols played over the new PA system. Inevitably, Valentine's Day arrives, with the Beta Club's singing valentines and an office overflowing with florists' deliveries. Although holidays are hectic, they are a welcome change from the everyday routine.

YOUNG LOVE. (above) Principal David Daniel seems bewildered by the balloons and roses that have begun to spill out the office doorway.

Shake It Up

Each year, some type of musical program is held at LHS. This year's feature was definitely a success. On January 31, a duo from Opryland came and performed a variety of rock hits, including both students and faculty in their programs. Even Mr. Daniel (far left) donned a George Michael wig, teaching students that "you gotta have faith." Several teachers got out on the floor and caught dance fever, including Coach Jerry Taylor (left).

The Best of Friends

Ordinary days are far from ordinary at Loretto High School. Friendships grow stronger each day, in class and out. Amid the smiles, tears, giggles, and craziness we all share, we each develop a distinct personality.

Braces are a major, if unwelcome, part of the lives of many students. Christie Shelton is blunt: "I hate 'em!" Jill Wright agrees, "especially when my lips get hung." Mary Smith adds that getting food caught in them is no picnic, but that straight teeth are worth it. No one knows this better than Kelli Davis, who endured two sets of braces before perfecting her winning smile.

GOOD TIMES. (right) Wink McDowell and Kenneth Buttrum pal around in Ms. Murrell's class.

Double Exposure

If twins are indeed double the fun, then Loretto High School is the place to be. There are three sets of identical twins at LHS and five sets of fraternal twins. Some are so alike that they had to wear ID tags as babies, as the Freis twins did; others are as different as night and day. "We're not alike," stresses Terry Sanders. Though many dressed alike as youngsters, they are usually not able to fool people now except on the telephone. Some cited disadvantages of being twins. Says Myra Robinson of brother Michael, "I never resented sharing a birthday with him, but I did hate sharing a present ... it seemed like we were connected like one person." Michael agrees: "They often think of Myra and me as one person and not as individuals." However, all the twins said they never wished they weren't twins. Katy King admits, "We're too dependent on each other." "I like being a twin; you always have someone there for you. We are close and always will be," says Donna Hughes. Carol Davis perhaps says it best: "Being a twin to me is a great experience. I like to have someone to communicate with who really knows how I feel ... I wouldn't trade Cheryle for the world."

The junior-senior prom, held on May 11, 1990, was definitely unique. The seniors chose Tesla's "Love Song" as their theme song, and the gym was transformed into "Illusion Theatre" after many hours of hard work. The dance floor was white with silver diamonds and featured silver tragedy/comedy masks as a centerpiece. Glittered masks to match the masquerade prom invitations hung on the walls. For the first time, a senior promenade was held, allowing each senior and his/her date to be announced as they walked across the dance floor. As the fun wound to an end at midnight, each person left with warm memories of the evening.

“Anytime you call,
night or day,
I’ll be right there
for you,
If you need a friend.”

— Love Song by Tesla

E n t e r t a i n m e n t

Let's face it — school is not always a picnic. The monotony of the daily routine can take its toll on teenagers, but LHS students have their own ways of relieving stress on the weekends. There are usually Friday night ballgames to attend, with a dance at the Civic Center to follow. Senior Kevin Smith (below) gained fame for being poetry in motion on the dance floor. Another hot spot on the weekends is the Quik-Mart, where teenagers hang around to laugh, listen to their favorite music, sit on the hoods of their cars, and just plain goof off. Whatever LHS students choose to do with their spare time, they always have fun just being together.

Songs

Our fondest memories of high school are often associated with music; certain songs call up images of times spent with friends. These songs touched the lives of students during the 1989-90 school year:

"Angel Eyes" — Jeff Healey Band
 "Heaven" — Warrant
 "Bust A Move" — Young M.C.
 "Dr. Feelgood" — Motley Crue
 "Love Shack" — B-52's
 "Miss You Much" — Janet Jackson
 "Pump Up the Jam" — Technotronic
 "I Remember You" — Skid Row
 "Back To Live" — Soul II Soul
 "It Takes Two" — Seduction
 "Don't Wanna Fall In Love" — Jane Child
 "Love Song" — Tesla
 "Vogue" — Madonna
 "Nothing Compares 2 U" — Sinead O'Connor
 "Forever" — Kiss
 "What It Takes" — Aerosmith
 "U Can't Touch This" — M.C. Hammer
 "Sending All My Love" — Linear
 "Hold On" — Wilson Phillips
 "Poison" — Bell Biv Devoe
COUNTRY HITS:
 "Country Club" — Travis Tritt
 "Dumas Walker" — Kentucky Headhunters
 "Love Has No Right" — Billy Joe Royal
 "Killin' Time" — Clint Black

TUNE UP. (above) Ryan Krick adjusts his guitar strings before a performance. Many LHS students belong to bands; one is Aberration, which includes Anthony Weathers, Stephen Littleton, and John White.

Movies are a popular pastime as well, spawning fads such as Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtle wristwatches. Misty Horton and Tracie Swift (below) pose with a TMNT cake, and Jody Peters (right) assumes the identity of Batman.

The following movies made 1989-90 memorable:

Batman
Steel Magnolias
Driving Miss Daisy

Pump Up the Jam

Boom cars, it seems, are here to stay. Students of driving age talk nonstop about speakers, bass, thump, woofers, tweeters, and amps. Though everybody enjoys loud music, the boom craze is predominant among male juniors. Each car owner is constantly trying to achieve more "bump" than the next person. A favorite phrase? "Crank it up!" Brian Leighton recommends the following songs for maximum "hit": "Trendsetter" by Ron C, "Drop the Bass" by D. J. Magic Mike, and "Pray" by M. C. Hammer.

BOHM. (above) Dedicated boomer John Kress demonstrates just how the ideal bass should feel. This effect is commonly referred to as "bohm."

SEE NO EVIL, HEAR NO EVIL. (above) Brian Leighton attempts to ward off serious ear damage as he reclines in front of his famous Orion speakers.

CONGRATULATIONS. Carroll Baker is congratulated by Misty Horton and Leigh Ann Thomas after the Lady Mustangs defeated Stuart County in their Sub-state tournament match.

Sports

The clock is ticking. The adrenaline is flowing. Thirty seconds left on the clock. The score is tied. The batter swings. It's intercepted. Spike! Ten seconds left on the clock. Strike two! Dribble. Good serve. Shoot. Dig! Safe! Two points!

The crowd chants, "L-H-S!" Fans huddle to protect themselves from the evil winter cold. The huge man in the back questions the referee's call. Hot spring sunrays mercilessly beat down on the Mustang fans who brave the 90 degree weather. A delicious aroma of hamburgers fills the September night air.

Whether pushing through an overcrowded gym, bundling up for a football game, or braving the scorching sun, students and alumni always show their support for the Mustangs. On our city's southern border, reared against the sky

ALL-REGION. For their outstanding play, Elizabeth Hardwick, Christy Shelton, and Shelley Story were named to the All-Region team.

The Loretto volleyball team ended the season with a final record of 15-9. Of the eight member varsity team, two were freshmen, one was a sophomore, three were juniors, and two were seniors.

"I thought we were really young at the first of the year, but we never played like a young team," stated Coach Debra Earnest.

According to Earnest, three things are necessary to get to the Sub-State Tournament: hustle, good attitudes, and senior leadership. Fortunately, the 1989-90 LHS volleyball team had plenty of each.

In the District tournament, Loretto defeated Mt. Pleasant, but was then defeated by Summertown. In the Regional tournament, Loretto defeated Tullahoma, but was again defeated by Summertown. Loretto then advanced to the Sub-State Tournament. In Sub-State action at Chattanooga, Loretto was defeated by the Girls' Preparatory School.

Several individual athletes were recognized for their contributions to the team. Three players, Christy Shelton, Shelley Story, and Brandy Barnett were selected for the All-District Team. Elizabeth Hardwick, Shelley Story, and Christy Shelton were named to the All-Region Team.

"This year's team was one of the hardest-working, most competitive groups I've had. They never quit and were never intimidated by the larger teams," stated Earnest.

Cheerleaders

Motivating the Mustangs

Starting with the try-outs in April and continuing until the last seconds ticked off the clock at the State Tournament, the 1989-90 cheerleading squad gave their best in cheering on the Mustangs.

Like many of the other athletic teams at LHS, the cheerleading squad spent many hours of their summer vacation preparing for camp. They attended cheerleading camp in July at MTSU.

With a season that lasts from August to mid-March, the cheerleaders stay busy. Whether selling ribbons and pins, preparing signs, or making a Spirit Stick, they work hard to arouse the student body's school spirit.

"One of the things I like best about cheering is when the game is close and the crowd cheers with us," says senior Cara Childress.

Most of the cheerleaders agree that cheering is hard work, but they are quick to add that they wouldn't trade it for anything in the world.

"Being a part of such a close-knit group of girls has been a highlight of my high school career," says senior Trisha Gallien.

A New Era Begins

The 1989 Mustang Football season saw many new players as well as coaches on the squad. Coach Butch Toner became the new head football coach at LHS. Sophomore, Donnie Cotton, commented, "I was glad to have a coach who could relate and understand the players." New assistant coaches were Mark Toner, Tony Shirley and John Jacobs. With only five Seniors and as many as fifteen sophomores starting at different times the Mustang record was 2-8.

The first game found the Mustangs facing perennial AA power Marshall Co. The Mustangs fought hard and trailed only 7-0 at half. The Tigers controlled the ball during the 2nd half and prevailed 26-0.

In the 2nd game LHS faced off against Page High. Showing some offensive punch, the young Mustangs showed inconsistency and fell by a score of 26-14.

Game three featured a defensive struggle as Loretto met Colliwood. Despite a good defensive effort the Trojans wound up on top by a score of 12-6.

The fourth game of the season had the Mustangs facing Coach Toner's old team, the Rogers Pirates, in a driving rain storm. Surprising to some, but not the Mustangs, the game was a close one. Rogers led 14-7 at half but LHS showed that they could compete with some of Alabama's best. Experience prevailed as Rogers won 21-7. The Mustangs however appeared to gain confidence.

Like the Rogers game, game five vs. Huntland was played in the pouring rain. It was also Huntland's homecoming. The youthful team from Loretto played the role of "home(coming) wrecker" and exploded for a 33-0 win. It seemed to be a long time coming but the victory was sweet. Guard, Heath Springer recalled, "The win was in the bag by the time that the team left LHS!"

Giles Co. rolled into town featuring a big team and outstanding tailback. The Bobcats prevailed by a score of 23-0.

Once again LHS played before a homecoming crowd when they visited Columbia Academy. Enjoying the role of homecoming spoiler, Loretto won by 20-14. Lonnie Cotton, tight-end, recognized the outstanding play of Shag Douglas providing leadership in the win.

In game eight the Mustangs once again faced a state play-off bound team in Lewis Co. Featuring the old "T" offense the Panthers scored 33 points to defeat Loretto by a score of 33-14.

Next was another road trip, this time to Wayne Co. Falling behind 17-0 at half the Mustangs took the field in the 2nd half with fire in their eyes. Wayne Co. could not make a first down on LHS the entire 2nd half. However Loretto's offense could not hit paydirt and was defeated by the play-off bound Wildcats 17-0.

The final game of the year saw the Mustangs go to Hickman Co. Providing the Bulldogs with some early, easy scores LHS found themselves behind 13-0, but the Mustangs fought back to trail only 13-12 at half. Late scores saw Loretto fall by a score of 26-12.

The Mustangs played a tough schedule. Loretto played five state play-off teams with a huge group of underclassmen. The senior leadership by the five Mustang seniors: Shag Douglas, Dave Hughes, Pat Daniels, Jamie Mattox and John White was excellent but the Mustangs needed just a little more seasoning.

Mustangs in Action

The Mustangs had a great 1989-90 season this year filled with exciting plays and a captivating action. A very young team, led by seniors Scott Carter and Shag Douglas, held onto a 13-13 standing.

Sophomore Josh Jones commented, "It was a rebuilding year after losing six seniors. No one thought we would match up to last year's team, but a different style of play, using quickness as the main weapon, improved the Mustangs' playing power."

The season opener was an indication of the intensity of the competition for the entire season. Against intra-county rival Lawrenceburg, the Mustangs overcame an 18-point deficit to come back in the game only to be defeated by one on a three-point shot at the buzzer.

The climactic game of the season was definitely the consolation game against Page to determine third place in the district. After being soundly defeated twice by the Patriots in the regular season, the Mustangs gave a nearly perfect effort to end victorious.

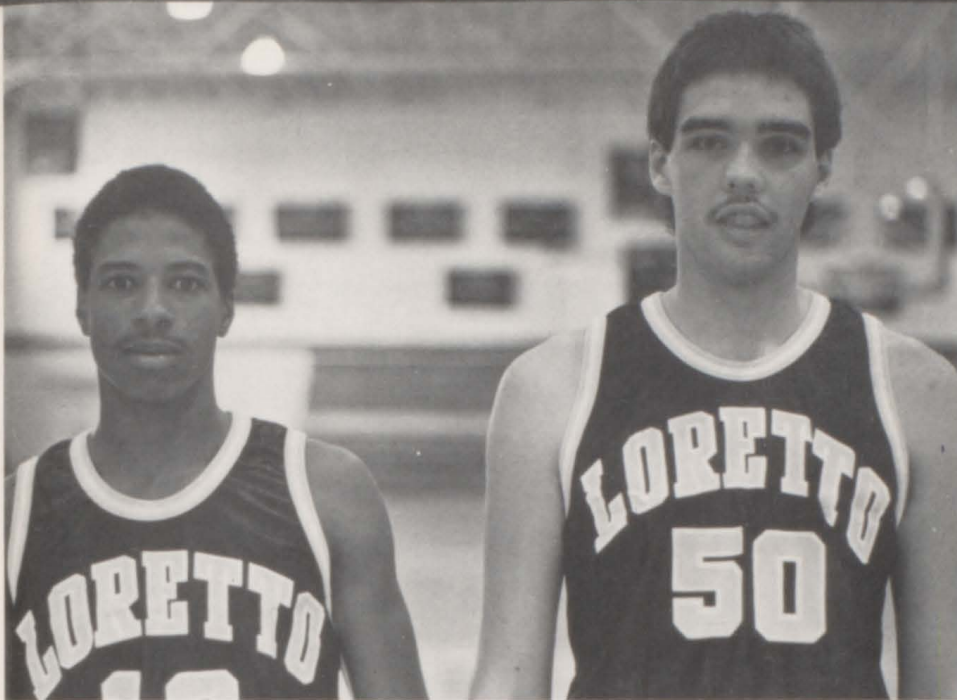

Junior Mark Buttrum added, "By the end of the season we grew as a team and were able to gain a region berth for two straight years." Entering the Regional Tournament with confidence, but lacking experience, the Mustangs suffered a disappointing loss to White House 70-65.

— The Big Event — State Tournament — trailing by 17 points — pride, hustle, teamwork — Davis' 33 second half points — Baker's and Story's 3's — Triple OT loss — A CLASSIC — Final Record 25-6.

The 1989-90 Lady Mustangs may have been Coach Jerry Taylor's smallest team, but with veteran All-Star guard Kelli Davis and a nucleus of good shooters returning, the Lady Mustangs again had the potential for a winning season.

An opening win over county rival, Lawrenceburg and three straight wins in the Union University Classic enabled the Lady Mustangs to close the 1989 portion of the schedule with a fine 9-1 record.

The new decade started on rocky ground as the Lady Mustangs dropped three straight to old rivals, Lewisburg, Collinwood, and Lawrenceburg. After regrouping, the Lady Mustangs preceded to win 10 of their 11 remaining seasonal games to finish 19-5 as they entered tournament play.

The tournament season began with a semi-final win over Hickman Co., setting up a big District championship battle. The Lady Mustangs had Lewisburg's number, winning, 62-53. Victories over Portland and Springfield vaulted the Lady Mustangs into a rematch with Lewisburg for the Regional Championship. Down by eight points after a sub-par first half, the Lady Mustangs used an aggressive press and the senior leadership of Kelli Davis to overhaul the Tigerettes for the Regional Championship sending LHS home for a sub-state berth with Stewart County. A last second basket by Shonta Story propelled the Lady Mustangs to qualify for their second State Tournament appearance in three years and twelfth in school history.

In the spring of 1990 Loretto High School fielded their first fastpitch softball team since 1981. The Lady Mustangs opened the season by facing two of the strongest pitchers in the area. The Loretto team fell short in these two games but gained valuable experience. It only took the novice Lady Mustangs a short time to develop a great defense and superb hitting.

Taking each game separately LHS showed great hustle, teamwork and defense in day-to-day improvement. They finished the season with a 6-8 overall record, 4-4 in District play, second place behind undefeated Lewisburg. Coach Debra Earnest commented "I couldn't have asked for more from the players; they always gave their best effort."

The most important goal of the 1990 boys' tennis team was to hold on to the glory captured during last year's season. Each member of the seven-man-team knew that the road was to be long and full of potholes, but the greatest obstacle was inexperience. Of the seven members, only three had been involved in high school action. Seniors Michael Robinson and Dennis Davis, along with Junior Brian Leighton, contributed a combined total of 11 years experience in high school tennis to the team.

The 1990 District Tournament was held in Columbia. In doubles action, Brian Leighton and Dennis Davis, along with John Perry and Bob Leighton, were defeated in the first round. In singles action, Phillip Brown's first round was a forfeit, while he was defeated in the second. Also in singles action, Michael Robinson was victorious in the first three rounds but was defeated in the finals, placing him second in the district. Robinson advanced to the regional tournament where he placed second after being defeated in the finals.

The 1990 girls' tennis team was a one-of-a-kind mixture. The team was made up of three seniors and two freshmen. While both Adrienne Jones and Bridgette Dover carried with them experience from last year, Myra Robinson was able to add her experience from the previous three seasons. Robinson, sidelined at the beginning of last year, was back in full force for the 1990 season. Although Mrs. Busby agreed that the 1990 season was somewhat disappointing, she feels the freshman players gained valuable experience from the year of rebuilding.

The 1990 District Tournament was held in Columbia. In doubles action, Bridgette Dover and Adrienne Jones were defeated in the second round while Shelley Ellis and Stephanie Clayton were defeated in the first. In the singles competition, Carroll Baker was defeated in the second round while Myra Robinson defeated her opponents and advanced to the finals. Due to her defeat in the finals, Robinson captured second place in the district. Afterwards, Robinson advanced to the Regional Tournament, where she was once again defeated in the finals, placing her second in the region.

ODE TO THE TEACHERS. During the annual FCA talent competition, FCA President Heath Rochester screams out a song that he wrote in honor of the faculty at Loretto High School.

STUDYING IT OVER. At the FFA Livestock Judging competition, Bill White, LHS chapter president, studies the livestock carefully before making his decision.

A forgotten or late homework assignment, a pop quiz, a fifteen page exam, a difficult teacher. These are some of the problems that students have to cope with through the year. Luckily students have somewhere to turn. To release frustrations, to get the mind off the everyday pressures of teenage life, and to help prepare for the future, many students find that getting involved in school organizations helps out a lot.

Loretto High School has a variety of organizations such as language clubs, academic organizations, religious-oriented organizations, and even vocational organizations. From academic clubs to purely social ones, almost any student can find a niche and once this niche is found, fun, involvement, and even learning is ahead.

Although each organization specializes in its own way, each helps to build the backbone of the school by uniting the faculty and student body, promoting school pride, and providing varied learning experiences. Get involved . . .

VAVOOM. Student Council President Stephen Littleton, a.k.a. Bertha Vavoom and escort Shonda York "strut their stuff" in the Student Council sponsored Miss Ugly LHS contest. Despite a gallant effort by Bertha and the other contestants, the day belonged to junior Casey Marston.

FHA

The Future Homemakers of America is an organization designed to provide its members the opportunity to become more aware of the relationship between home and community life. Throughout the year, members sponsored and participated in various activities.

In the fall, FHA members sold Christmas ornaments to raise money for field trips. These trips included watching a court session, touring the General Building house, working with the Kindergarten classes at South Lawrence, and various trips to local businesses. FHA's spring fund raiser was a candy sale. With this fund raiser they were able to raise enough money to buy a new serger for the Home Economics Department.

On Awards Day FHA sponsor Mary Nell Franks honored four members for their participation and dedication to FHA. They were Amy Kimbrell (senior), Susan Brewer (junior), Misty Jackson (sophomore), and Tanya Roberts (freshman).

PALM SUNDAY. FFA members Shawn Parsons, Sean Williams, Jason Davis, and Terry Cameron collect money for the Palm Sunday Paper Drive which benefits the Vanderbilt Children's Hospital.

FFA

The Future Farmers of America along with the LHS Agriculture department competes in various contests across the state. The first competition this year was the District Soil Judging held at Perry County High School. LHS team members for this competition were Shawn Parsons, Nickey Word, Bobby Roberts, and Sean Williams. They placed third in the district and twenty-third out of sixty-four teams in middle Tennessee. The next competition was Parliamentary Procedure held at Lawrence County High School. Bill White, David Ridgeway, Randy Kelton, Nickey Word, and Darryl Brown participated. The team won first place at this competition.

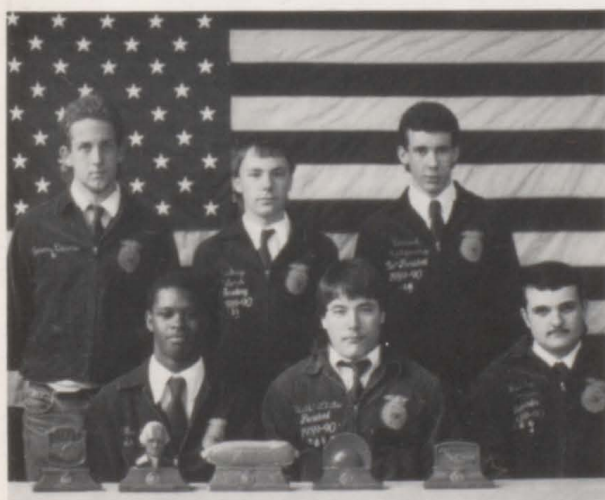

Shawn Parsons placed first in the district and fourth in the regional in Public Speaking. Nickey Word placed third in the district in extemporaneous speaking.

Several FFA members attended the Skills Contest held at Hohenwald. Richard Kimbrell (welding), Terry Cameron (electricity), Darryl Brown (carpentry), Nickey Word (masonry), Chris Schultz (board fitting), David Ridgeway (small engines), Jonathan Gray (land measuring), Jason Davis (land measuring), Randy Kelton (differential leveling), Sean Williams (plumbing), and Shawn Parsons (differential leveling) were the contestants from LHS.

The Middle Tennessee Dairy Judging contest held at Murfreesboro was attended by Bobby Roberts, Terry Cameron, Jason Davis, and Sean Williams. This year's Livestock Judging Team consisted of Nickey Word, Bill White, and Darryl Brown.

At the Middle Tennessee Awards Banquet, representatives Nickey Word, Shawn Parsons, Bobby Roberts, and Terry Cameron accepted the Outstanding District Chapter Award. This was the third straight year that the LHS chapter has received this award. Terry Cameron, Randy Kelton, Shawn Parsons, and Nickey Word represented the LHS chapter of FFA at the state convention.

Each year, there is an FHA and an FFA member selected to represent each class for the annual Sweetheart and Beau presentation. The basic requirement for this selection is that both the FHA and FFA member must have paid the required club fees.

All of the registered FFA members choose a registered FHA member, and the FHA does likewise. When the FHA and FFA members vote on the class representatives, they look at each member on an individual basis. When voting, participation in fundraisers, out-of-school activities, etc., are considered.

Upon the selection of the four representative couples, a fundraiser is held and the couple that raises the most money is crowned sweetheart and beau for the year.

General Building

The General Building program is designed to teach students a trade. Those involved in the program are exposed to the various stages in the construction of a house and also given practical work experience.

This year the General Building classes built a home for Andy and Terri Augustin and family. The house was designed by the Augustins and is located in the Hillwood Estates subdivision in Loretto.

Newspaper Staff

To find out the latest scoop, LHS students turn to Hoofprints, the school newspaper. Published once every six weeks, Hoofprints was staffed this year by Mrs. Donna Geise's sixth period journalism class. In competition at the University of Tennessee, the paper received an overall rating of "good," and several staff members were recognized for excellence in their work. In the category of news writing, the Hoofprints staff made a clean sweep. Editor Crystal Gobble was awarded first in this category, while staff members Melissa Bradley and Misty Sewell placed second and third respectively. J. D. Smith received a second place award for an editorial cartoon. In the Sports features category, Crystal Gobble received an honorable mention.

Library & Office Workers

It is 8:40 A.M. on any school day. First period classes are busily involved in their individual lessons. One thing is the same. Somewhere right around this time Sharon Henkel enters each classroom quietly and unobtrusively and places an absentee sheet on each teacher's desk. She is an office worker, just one of the many student aides who make the job of being a teacher, administrator or staff member of LHS much simpler.

It is 2:20 P.M. on any school day. Sixth period classes are quickly coming to an end. Papers are handed in, supplies are put away and books are closed. Everyone is tired and ready to go home. Students gather up their belongings and prepare to leave. Michael Robinson enters the room. He politely takes the filmstrip projector, VCR, or the overhead back to the library. He is a library worker, just one of the many students who do so much more than stamp and shelve books. Besides distributing and collecting audio-visuals, library workers copy papers, preview videos, clean the library, arrange periodicals . . . The list is endless.

The tireless and selfless service of these two groups of students is the oil which makes the daily machine run smoothly for the faculty, staff and student body at LHS.

Student Council

The 1989-90 Student Council began the year with high hopes and big plans. In September, the group initiated the "Year of the Star," honoring every student, faculty, administration, and staff member with a gold star on the ceiling with his or her name on it.

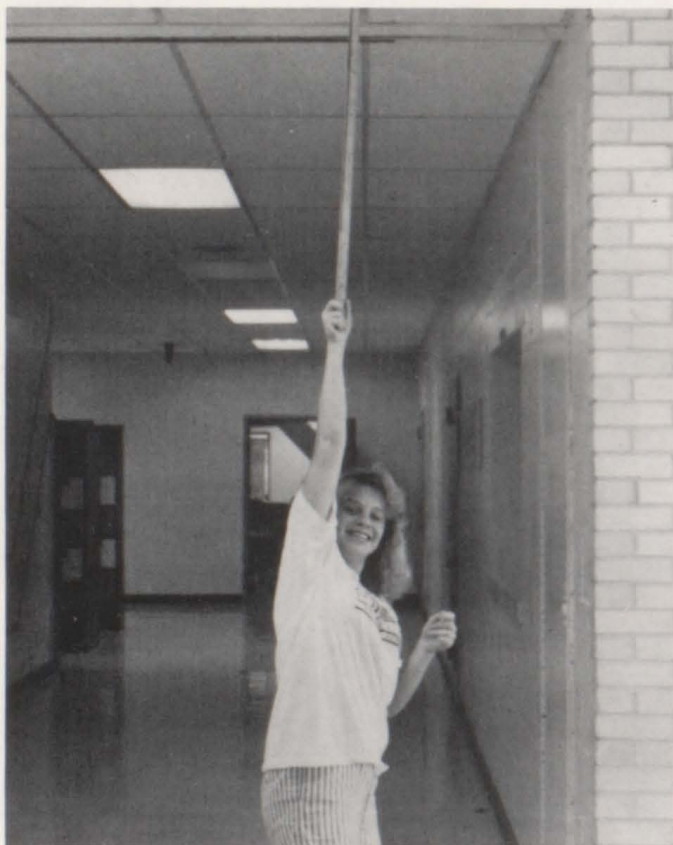

Each year it is the Student Council's responsibility to conduct both the football and basketball homecoming celebrations. The four-day long football homecoming celebration was a tremendous success. Each day of the week was designated by Student Council members as a dress-up day where students and faculty members were asked to dress according to that day's theme. The week was capped off by the parade on Thursday afternoon and the crowning of the Homecoming Queen during Thursday evening's game. Basketball homecoming was also a huge success. Student Council sponsored events such as the Miss Ugly contest and the talent competition helped to make this year's Basketball Homecoming memorable.

For the Student Council, the highlight of the year proved to be "Operation Angel Tree." In December, members collected money from each homeroom to buy a gift for an underprivileged child. Children's names were obtained from the Angel Tree at First Farmers and Merchants Bank. This proved to be a very successful and worthy endeavor.

Computer Club

The newest addition to the club scene at Loretto High in the '89-90 school year was the Computer Club. The club was sponsored by computer instructor Shirley Rice.

Consisting of current and former computer students, the primary purposes of the club are to provide future job prospects and enrichment activities for computer students. The LHS Computer Club is a chapter of the national organization of Future Business Leaders of America.

The club held several fund raising activities throughout the year. On Halloween night, they held the Horror High Halloween Homecoming Dance at the Loretto Civic Center. This event along with the Winter Formal on December 22, 1989 helped to raise funds for new computer games, equipment, and supplies for LHS computer student.

The Beta Club had a very successful year. They sponsored several service projects such as collecting for St. Jude's Children's Research Hospital and "pumpkin carolling" to the citizens of Loretto. They had several fundraisers including the teacher volleyball game and the annual spirit chain sales during Basketball Homecoming. To boost student morale, they sponsored a monthly success card drawing.

In April the group attended the state Beta Club Convention held in Nashville. This capped off a great year.

Scholastic Bowl and Science Bowl

Each year students at Loretto High School participate in various academic competitions across the state.

Science Bowls are held annually at the University of Tennessee at Martin and at Tennessee Tech. Participants in these events included Karin Beuerlein, Bridgette Dover, Adrienne Jones, Michael Robinson, Myra Robinson, Chad Augustin, Timothy Hollman, John White, Greg Meyer, and Crystal Gobble. AT UTM, the Loretto team placed among the top eight schools, led by the individual score of Crystal Gobble. The Tennessee Tech competition was also a success; one of the two teams from Loretto made the quarterfinals before being eliminated.

Scholastic Bowl events are based on general knowledge and involve buzzer competition only. Competitions were held this year at Martin Methodist College, the University of Tennessee at Knoxville, Tennessee State University, and Wesleyan College. Participating were Karin Beuerlein, Bridgette Dover, Adrienne Jones, Michael Robinson, Myra Robinson, Tommy Noblit, Karen Neidert, Melinda Neidert, Dana Franks, Tony Lee, and Brandon Weaver. Although the team reached the quarterfinals at UTK and came close to earning spots at other contests, they were never able to take a trophy home. Karin Beuerlein was named to the All-Star Teams at Martin Methodist College, UTK, and TSU; at Wesleyan College she was named the high scorer and MVP.

Chorus

A familiar sight or perhaps sound at many Loretto High School athletic events this year was the LHS chorus. The chorus was led by sponsors Dolly Leighton and Donna Simbeck.

In addition to performing the national anthem at LHS basketball games, the chorus sang at various community events. In December the group sang Christmas carols at the Loretto Library during the Loretto Open House. They also performed House. They also performed Christmas carols at the local elementary schools.

March proved to be a busy month for the chorus. They participated in The Adventure of Tom Sawyer, performed in the Boys' Basketball State Tournament in Murfreesboro, and went on a field trip to Nashville.

The senior members of the chorus performed at graduation as well as senior banquet and senior night.

FORWARD MARCH. Lance Littleton, Phillip Brown, Troy Beecham, Chris Landtroop, David Smith, Michelle Heupel, Anthony Weathers, Brian Gallett, David Frazier, Adam Brewer, Amanda Shaw and Robert Reyes participate in the Ivy Green Marching Festival in Tusculumbia, AL and received a superior rating.

It was an outstanding year for one of the youngest and fastest growing bands in Southern Tennessee. The LHS Marching Mustangs Band doubled in size this year, increasing from a rebuilding year of 16 performers to a unit of 31 marchers this year. That number included ten 6th graders.

The 1989-90 season began early in the summer with weekly practices, culminating with a week of Band Camp in early August. The band performed at numerous public events: football games, pep rallies, basketball games, parades (Homecoming, Veteran's Day, and Christmas), Solo and Ensemble competition, the county-wide "Swing into Spring" concert, and a tour of South Lawrence, Leoma, and Sacred Heart Schools.

The highlight of the year was our performances at two marching contests. At the Greenhill Open Festival, the flag corps received a superior rating, while the majorettes, drum major, and band received an excellent rating. At the Ivy Green Classic in Deshler, AL the band and majorettes received a superior rating, while the flags and drum major were rated excellent. The majorettes were also judged to be "Best in Class."

Gold Record Club

The Gold Record Club was originated in 1987 to recognize the top fifty students at Loretto High School. Thirty six underclassmen, twelve from each class, and fourteen seniors are honored.

These students are selected at the end of the first semester on the basis of their academic average. Each student chosen receives a certificate and a pin in the shape of a gold record.

On May 3, the annual Gold Record Club banquet was held at the Loretto Civic Center. Members and their parents enjoyed a buffet meal along with the ceremonies. Unlike past years, Principal David Daniel was the only speaker at the event. Senior member Brian Walters gave the invocation.

Mr. & Miss LHS

Being chosen Mr. or Miss LHS is one of the highest honors that a student can achieve in his or her four years at Loretto High School.

Mr. and Miss LHS are chosen according to their grades and service to the school by their peers.

Scott Carter, Mr. LHS 1990, is the son of Steven and Judy Carter. He lives in St. Joseph, TN. Scott plans to attend Columbia State Community College. He has been a member of the Beta Club for two years. Scott has played on the boys' basketball team for four years. This year he was named the Most Valuable Player as well as the LHS's FCA Christian Athlete of the Year. He has also been an active member of S.A.D.D. Scott attends St. Joseph Church of Christ.

Bridgette Dover, Miss LHS 1990, the daughter of Larry and Martha Dover, lives in St. Joseph TN.

Bridgette plans to attend the University of Tennessee at Chattanooga, where she received a Brock Scholarship. She has served on the Student Council for three years. Bridgette has been in the Beta club for two years, serving as president her senior year. She has been a member of the tennis team for two years and was basketball manager for two years. She attends United Methodist Church of Loretto and is actively involved in church activities.

Graduation 1990

A Night to Remember

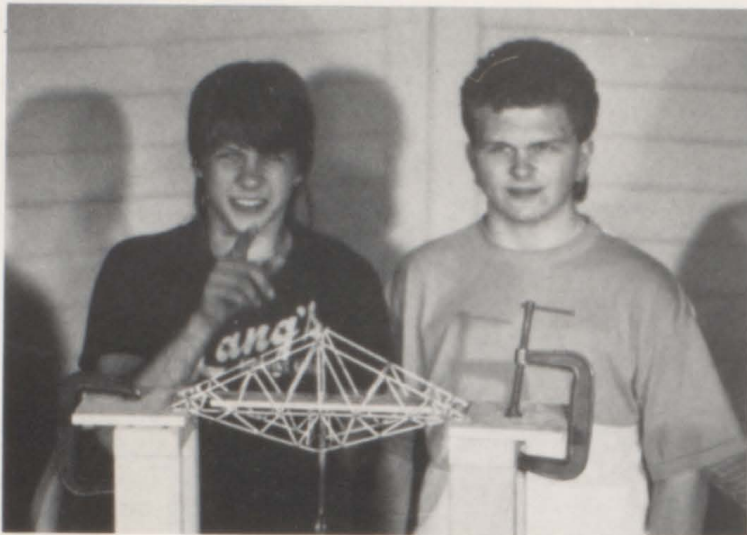

The commencement ceremony for Loretto High School seniors was held on the football field at 7 p.m. on May 24, 1990. It opened with the Lord's Prayer, sung by senior chorus members Bryan Weaver, Phillip Brown, Dennis Davis, Cara Childress, Lisa Byrd, Tracie Swift, Karin Beuerlein, Bridgette Dover, and Adrienne Jones. Class president John White gave the opening speech, followed by Myra Robinson's salutatory. Scholarships were then presented to winning students. After all had been awarded, the graduates lined up to receive their diplomas. The senior chorus then took the microphone again, singing a song very special to the Class of 1990, "Leave You with a smile." Class valedictorian Karin Beuerlein gave the final farewell address, and Kelli Davis closed the ceremony with a prayer. Pianist Amy Crabb Carrouth struck the opening notes of "Pomp and Circumstance," and the graduates filed out two by two. Finally, a happy group of graduates tossed their caps high into the air, bidding LHS a fond farewell.

STANDIN' ON THE CORNER. The intersection of science hall with English hall is a favorite meeting spot for many students during the morning break.

YOUNG ENGINEERS. Freshmen Terry Sanders and Chuck Luna prepare the bridge they designed and built in Mechanical Drawing for testing. All of the Mechanical Drawing students designed and built bridges. Each bridge was then given an efficiency rating based on the amount of weight it could hold.

People

Perhaps, late at night, the walls of Loretto High School talk. Echoes of past conversations linger in the halls: "Did he call last night? . . . Oh, you're not serious . . . She assigned ALL four pages . . . No, Dad won't let me . . . Did you get a new perm? . . . Chill . . . The game starts at four . . . What does your prom dress look like? . . . Very funny . . . I don't think so . . . I am going to fail that algebra test . . . Did you see the dirty look she just gave me? . . . Let me see your chemistry . . . Ouch . . . Oh, I hate that song . . . What are we doing Friday night? . . . Shut up . . . The sweater looks so good on you . . . Happy Birthday . . . How late will football practice be? . . . I love you."

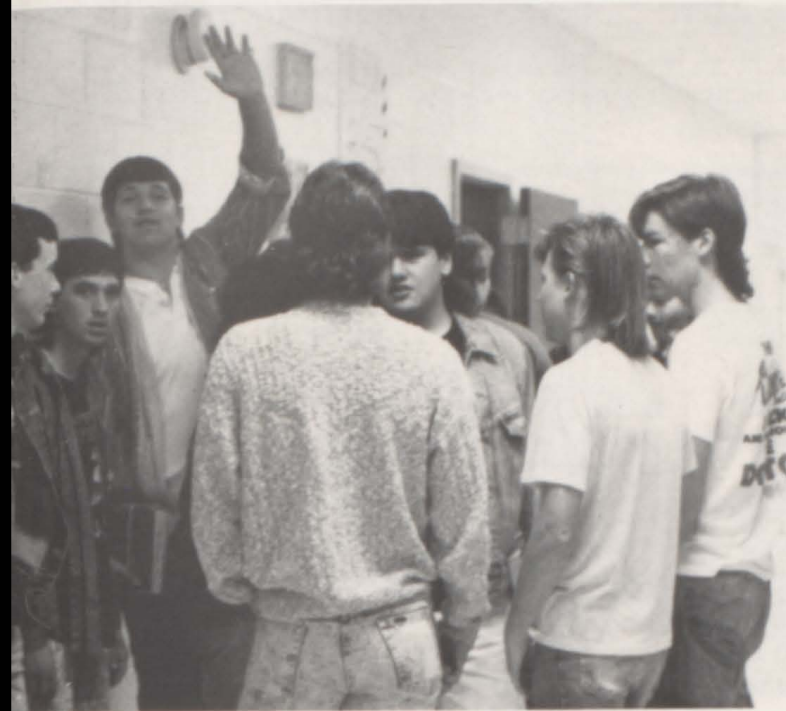

Rows of faces, lists of names . . . despite all appearances, we at LHS are not just numbers, not just statistics. We have unique and distinct personalities; we each occupy a special niche in this special place . . .

KEEPING WARM. Brandi Barnett, Dawn Pennington, Christie Shelton and Stephanie Rosson huddle up to keep warm while enjoying a spring baseball game.

Juniors

My junior year was filled with lots of questions; one being, "What am I going to do next year?" or, "I can't believe we're going to be seniors!" Being a junior wasn't that bad though, we did get a few more privileges. We were a part of the prom, (at least we got to go) and we got to take the big scary ACT test which everyone was glad to get over with. At the start of my junior year I kept thinking, "alright, only one more year." By this time though I'm screaming, "This year flew by so fast, where did it go?" If I could sum my junior year up in one word it would be, friends. Be around your friends now because after graduation you probably won't see hardly any of them again. Thanks to my closest friends. They made this my best year yet.

Sophomores

At the beginning of the sophomore year, one feels like an old hand at the rough game of high school. Putting the confusion and embarrassment of the freshman year behind, you start the year with confidence, looking forward to first dates and getting a driver's license. You know which teachers teach what and where their classrooms are. Those lockers are a breeze to open, and you can gloat as the freshmen struggle to open theirs. You think you know it all. But keep in mind that the word sophomore is composed of two root words, which are sophos, meaning wise, and moros, meaning foolish. While a sophomore has more experience than a freshman, he or she still has a lot to learn, so sometimes it's necessary for a junior or senior to remind a cocky sophomore that he or she is still an underclassman. Being a sophomore has its ups and downs, but if you survive you'll be able to laugh at the next batch of sophomores that come along.

Freshmen

Being a freshman has both its ups and downs. One bad thing about being a freshman is that you're the youngest and get the least respect from everyone. Secondly, if you're a freshman you don't have as much choice in the classes you take as the upperclassmen do. One of the worst things about being a freshman is that you've still got three more years of homework, tests, and getting up early every morning to go. But, on the other hand, being a freshman also has its good side. You get to make a fresh start in high school, meet new people, and enjoy the completely different atmosphere than that of elementary school. You have three more years of ballgames, dances, other extracurricular activities, and just being with friends to look forward to. But, perhaps the very best thing about being a freshman is that the next year you hopefully won't have to be a freshman anymore!

The 1989-90 school year has been a very successful year. I am very proud of our student body in their performance in the classroom. We initiated a number of new programs this year that were successful; such as the attendance incentive program and the success card program. Again, this school year has proven a statement that I have made a number of times, Loretto High students are the best in the world.

Advertisements

These are just some of the many items which are necessary to put together a yearbook. If these expenses are added to the printing costs a very large figure appears. Where does the money to produce the Mustang come from? A significant portion of the money comes from advertisements within the book. Without the support of the generous patrons featured on following pages, the price of the Mustang would be thirty to forty percent higher.

Year after year, Mustang staff members visit businesses in Loretto and the surrounding communities selling advertising space. Very seldom are the staffers disappointed. The Mustang 1990 staff asks that you give the following businesses the same support that they have given Loretto High School and the yearbook program for so many years.

Twelve years together, and it seems that the time has slipped away. We've grown and changed, but through it all we've always loved one another. How will we ever make it apart? No matter where we go or what we do, we'll never forget the years that made us who we are. The days to come won't change what we mean to each other.

Closing

For the freshmen who have just begun their years at Loretto High School, this past year has been filled with uncertainties and surprises. Their transformation into the "real world" has just begun.

Those who are in their second or third year here are not only one step closer to the end of their twelve year journey, but also more experienced in many aspects of life. For them, their hard work, dedication, and participation will soon pay off.

As for those in the class of 1990 who are saying their last good-byes to this great place, exchanging teary-eyed hugs with their friends, and promising to come back again soon, things will never be the same. Loretto High School will be a part of them forever.

The doors are closed and the halls silent again, but the memories will never be lost, simply stored in the hearts of those who made LHS such a great school.

Editor's Page

It is hard to believe that this year is over and this yearbook is finally completed. My staff and I have tried to compile the events of this school year and the people who made them happen into a 160 page volume. Hopefully we have succeeded.

Included in this yearbook are events which might not seem important now, but in the years to come they will bring back memories one never dreamed of remembering.

If the Mustang 1990 was no more than a three-pound autograph book when you received it, check back in a few months and see if it doesn't shake a few memories. Better yet, read it a year from now. Then read it before your ten year reunion, and before your twenty year reunion. Because, memories can live in the back of one's mind forever, and if my staff and I have done our jobs well, somewhere between the covers of this book is something to help bring those memories out.

To my staff I would like to say thank you for all of their effort and patience. What first seemed like an impossible task has now become a reality and you were all very much a part of it.

Misty, Michelle, Karin, Valerie, Ninette, and Marti thank you for all of the extra hours during spring break and weekends. Without your dedication we never could have made it.

Ms. Reeves, I don't know how to begin to thank you. You have done so much more than should have been asked of any "advisor." Your countless hours of dedicated work have not gone unappreciated.

Mr. Brown, you were a great help to me and my staff. Thank you for your advice and support. For me and many of my staff members your office was a refuge from the chaos in Ms. Reeves' room during sixth period.

Ms. Geise, thank you for your help. Your patience with our yearbook meetings during your newspaper class was greatly appreciated.

Ms. Barnett, I want to thank you for understanding when I didn't have all of my homework finished because I had spent all of my time finishing a yearbook deadline.

Sabrina, you have done much to help me finish this yearbook. Thank you.

Brent, a great deal of the credit for this yearbook rightfully belongs to you. Your ideas and assistance helped more than you'll ever know. Thanks for all of your time and patience.

I know that I must have left at least someone out, but at this thirteenth hour, my memory is not as keen as it should be; therefore to the countless numbers of people who also helped to produce this yearbook, I say "thank you, and I'm sorry there wasn't room to list everything you did."
