Monumental Snow

It has been 18 years since Loretto has had this big of a snow! Little did everyone know, this snow would make students get out of school for a full week. Everyone took advantage of these snow days by sledding, building snowmen, and hanging out with friends. Sophomore Holly Franklin said, "This was the best snow ever!" Another Sophomore, Ally McDow said, "The funnest part was hanging out with my friends and being out of school." Students spent more time out of school than they actually spent in school during the month of January. School was out for a total of ten days. The county has seven built in weather days before having to make days up. This big snow resulted in students having to go to school during parent teacher conferences and having to add on a day at the end of the year. This snow was an unexpected and pleasant surprise for students, parents, and teachers.

right: Junior Anna Johns gleefully embraces the snow as it falls.

big Adventures

Some view us as "Just Loretto." Well, we are much bigger than that. We take on new and exciting adventures everyday such as tearing up the highways on tractors during homecoming or heading to MTSU to watch our Lady Mustangs play at state. Everyday we are making memories, and recording history.

We will always remember the simple things like hanging out in the English hall during break, or trying to get away with skipping study hall, hoping to find a room that will take us in. From freshmen year to graduation, high school is all about making lasting memories. Freshmen Alex Beckman said, "My first year is gone and I already have so many memories, but I am looking forward to the many adventures ahead."

"High school has been some of the best years of my life. If I had the chance, I'd do it all over again." said senior Chelsea Richardson. The friends and memories we make here will remain with us for the rest of our lives.

stupendous Style

The 2010 - 2011 school year brought in many new trends and even brought some old ones back.

Along with the V-neck shirts and plaid button downs, fly-aways are in style. Skinny jeans blew up as well and were worn by both boys and girls. To the right, Jessica Fick, Tiffany Ferguson, and Rianna Watson show off their skinnies. Rianna also sports the popular "gladiator" sandals.

As everyone knows, accessories make the outfit. Guys went hardcore with gauges while girls went big with oversized bracelets and long necklaces.

Above: Erin Jones, Cierra Franklin, Laquinta Pace, Jordyn Mobley, and Carley Estes are sporting their rainboots on a wet day.

a Girls and guys both gauge their ears. Senior Jeremy Olive shows his size 00g.

b Sporting the new kicks by Reebok, Will Gieske, Spencer Darnell, and Ethan Fowler show off their ZigTechs.

1. Oversize bags and crossbody purses were a big hit during the school year. The brighter, the better!

2. Senior Jed Fleming brings back the V-neck t-shirt.

3. Facebook at school? No problem with a smartphone. Senior Allison Short, freshman Caleb Smith, and sophomores Celsey Hunt and Braxton Perry sneak out their phones during the school day. Braxton said, "I could not live without my Droid!"

1. Third lunch dress up finalists Anna Shadix, Amanda Brown, LeAnnn Byrd, and Maegan Jacobs show off their decade costumes. Because of testing during Homecoming week, some of the costume judging had to be done during lunches this year.

2. Juniors Kendall Price, Josh Steadman, and Kassi Hughes smile in their overalls for Farmer Day.

3. Senior Cierra Franklin demonstrates her mad spirit competition skills by finding one of the hidden items! Each day, themed items were hidden throughout the school.

above: Senior class cowboys and cowgirls gather in their plaid shirts, overalls, and cowboy hats. The seniors kicked off the week by dominating in the class games and earning their class some spirit points!

Whoppin' little school Cowboy Time Warp

This year's homecoming week started off with cowboy day. Everybody got up, put on their boots, and were ready to start off the week. Students who drove tractors to school won points for their class in the spirit competition. Sophomore Justin Cornelius said, "It was fun driving my tractor to school. A lot of people asked to ride, and I even got my breakfast from Hardees that morning!"

Tuesday was Decade Day, and there were many interesting ideas. From flapper dresses to poodle skirts to bad 80s hair, the hallways were like a time warp. All in all, it was a great kick off for Loretto's 2010 homecoming week!

epic Rock 'n' Twin

On Wednesday of Homecoming Week, Loretto High was filled with punk rockers, head-bangers, and even some odd creativity like Rockstar Energy Drink cans! Junior Kassie Hughes says, "Putting glue in my hair was a bad idea! It took me several hours to get it all out, and it hurt too!"

Everyone was seeing doubles that Thursday when Twin Day arrived. The wardrobes ranged from simply dressing alike, to movie characters such as Tweedle-Dee and Tweedle-Dum (Breanna Tankersly and Morgan Self), and dressing as fellow twin classmates such the Olive impersonators, Hailey Compton and Mackenzie Self.

top: Chance Mattox and Cayman Sanders play us the blues as The Blues Brothers.

 b. Sophomores Jessie Johnson and Mikhala Wolf are ready for some hard-core rock 'n' roll. If only the cafeteria were a mosh pit.

above: Senior Josh Johnson and Junior Eric Hallmark play the crowd a song while rockin' their colored hair and vests. These two fellas were often the school troubadours.

1. Freshmen Breanna Tankersley and Morgan Self won first place on Twin Day as Tweedle-Dee and Tweedle-Dum.
 2. Seniors Ali and Tiffany Ferguson, true twins, dress as Raggedy Ann and Andy on Twin Day.
 3. Senior Danielle Daughtry strikes a rockstar pose with her drum sticks on Rockstar Day.

2. With a beautiful bouquet of balloons, the seniors land their "UP" house on the Panthers, and clench second place.

3. The sophomores receive third place with their motto "Sinking the Panthers."

a. In fourth place, the freshmen float declares the danger of swimming with the Mustangs and the "Jaws of Defeat."

b. The senior elimination team celebrates after their victory over the other classes. These girls only had one month to perfect their elimination skills.

little school massive Mustang Alley

To kick off Homecoming Day, the students pumped up their spirit at the elimination tournament. Both senior boys and girls dominated the games. They also blew the underclassmen out of the water in the annual scavenger hunt. The morning was packed full of games and spirit challenges for the students. Junior Jarret Lee said, "It was awesome that we got all day out of class to goof off!"

The entire school was anxious for the parade to start. After students added all the last minute touches, the floats, cars, and students filled the streets. The freshmen's shark went belly up, the sophomore's ship sank, and the senior's balloons burst when the juniors took the yellow brick road to victory!

Mustangs Got Talent

This year the SNAC club hosted Mustangs Got Talent, a talent show featuring LHS students. The talent show was held to raise money for Relay for Life. In the beginning, 25 acts auditioned. After the first round of eliminations, the judges narrowed it down to the final 8 contestants, who performed for the school during an assembly. The final show of the last 4 was held at night for the community to attend. The practice and hard work finally paid off for Senior Lindsey Kerstiens when she took home the first place prize of $500. "Singing in front of what felt like billions of people is now my favorite thing to do! Yes, it's nerve-wrecking, but it's sooooo much fun!" Junior LeAnn Byrd was the 1st runner-up and received $100. With $2,531 raised for Relay for Life, the talent show was a success for the community, contestants, and the student body.

beastin' Winter Formal

Winter Formal is the first dance of the year and the only formal for freshmen and sophomores. All the girls spent months trying to find the perfect dress while the boys searched for the perfect color tie to match. Sophomore Laura Adams said, "I searched everywhere, and I was so excited when I fell in love with my red dress."

December 11th, the school cafeteria was decked out with snowflake lights and filled with students ready to get crunk in their formal wear. Hannah Smith said, "My senior year's winter formal was the shiznit!" Whether you spent the night with your friends or with a date, the night was one that students will never forget.

P Momentous rom

The most anticipated moment for any junior or senior is prom. From the moment he places the corsage on her wrist to the goodnight kiss on the front porch, it is a night full of little moments that make it magical.

This year's junior/senior prom was held at Providence Hall on the square in Lawrenceburg. The beautiful array of bright colored dresses filled the square as seniors gathered at the gazebo for promenade, and many tears were shed as mothers and fathers danced a special dance with their seniors. Then it was lights off and music up for the rest of the night. From slow dancing with a date to getting down with friends, the students all agree it was hot (literally).

"A Moment Like This" turned out to be a fitting theme for senior Heather Creekmore who said, "I will never forget this night."

big Personalities

Personality? Others define you by the way you act. You're either fun to be around or not really noticed at all. Loretto High is labeled as the country school that knows nothing, the "black sheep" of Lawrence County. Well, there is just a little more to us than that. Loretto High is the heart of big personality. Every person is different in his or her own way, and yet we all come together to make Loretto a place where every person has a friend. Here at this high school, students are taught to be who they want to be and never be ashamed of it. Step by step, each student becomes what he or she have always wanted to be while also being a great influence to others who might struggle. It is not about being perfect, but it is about showing off our big personalities. Michael Hartsfield says, "Every snowflake is different and that makes it alright to be a slacker."

1. Coty Shults takes time to smile for a pic on his way to class.

2. Haley Compton agrees that it's O.K. to be a nerd by wearing her dorky glasses

As the doors of Loretto High School open and freshmen file in, most are nervous about their first day. These students go from being the oldest in their elementary schools to the youngest in this new place. Some might be scared that their best friends might not be going to their school, or afraid they won't fit in. Others make new best friends that they will make memories with for the next four years.

The first year of high school is always one filled with many new experiences. Most come to find that high school is not as scary as it seems. When asked how she liked her freshman year, Sydney Strickland replied, "My freshman year was a great experience. I made a new best friend this year, Sam Beckman. I am the only freshman cheerleader and love being involved in FBLA and FCA and serving as freshman class president."

Most freshmen's perspectives of high school changed after this year. Freshmen realized that moving up to high school is not anything to be afraid of, and it really will be the best years of their lives.

Starting off a new year as a sophomore, the students are all relieved. They are no longer the youngest in their high school. They get to make new memories with their old and new friends. The students get to start a whole new year with their new teachers and new subjects. Not only are they moving up, but they are now on block schedule with the juniors and seniors.

Students take on new responsibilities as sophomores, and they also come to the realization that they get their driver's license. Most are also excited about taking drivers' education and learning how to drive. However, Paulina Buttrum commented, "It's a pretty scary thing when the brakes on the drivers' ed. car decide not to work."

When asked about his sophomore year Alex Carrick replied, "My sophomore year was a lot of fun and I definitely enjoyed it." No matter who you ask, the sophomore students at Loretto High School all agree that it was an interesting year.

This school year was filled with a lot of excitement. The juniors stayed ahead and stayed involved. Some joined the new chess club while others performed community service by giving blood. A few even showed their talent in the Mustangs Got Talent competition. Staying ahead in classes and preparing for the horrid ACT are just a couple of the many things in this eventful year.

Club activities and hanging with friends is what junior year is all about. "I'm too busy playing video games to care," says Junior Ben Adams. Some roles might be small but make a very huge impact in classes, clubs, and ultimately the school. "I never thought junior year would go by so fast! We need to slow down and enjoy what's left!" says junior Harlie Watkins. Now the juniors are preparing for one more year filled with major decisions, easy classes, and school spirit.

Justin Lumpkins shows his carpentry skills by smiling for his level float in homecoming. 11. Dallas Smith and Erin Jones dress up on "Cowboy Day."

It was a big year for this small class of seniors. Although it was their last, they made it count with many new memories. Filled with excitement for their senior year, many were a little sad when they realized it was their last first day of school.

Throughout the year, they proved their years of experience as they defeated the underclassmen and faculty in the homecoming activities and led the students in the Black Hole. They also made the best of their last winter formal and their extended Christmas break with over a week of snow. For the first time in ten years, they were able to follow their girls' basketball team to state. They rounded off the year by going all out in celebrating their last prom. Last but not least, the class of 2011 graduated from Loretto High School.

The Seniors made some new friends and lost some old ones, but these four years of high school will always be full of lasting memories.

big Challenges

High School, these two words bring both excitement and dread to upcoming freshmen. High school brings on many changes and new challenges. The main challenge is academics. Moving from basic classes at the elementary level to classes where your grades are going to affect GPA, college acceptance, and scholarship opportunities can be overwhelming.

But, at Loretto High School the students are prepared for this challenge. For students who are excited about what the future can hold, hard classes are just part of the journey. Giving up is not in the Mustang dictionary. Josh Smith quotes William James by saying, "Believe that life is worth living and your belief will help create the fact."

Taking on great challenges at a young age makes a better and more determined adult. Challenges shape and form us into who we are going to become.

2. Danielle Daughtry studies a skeleton in Anatomy.
3. Rodrigo Gonzalez roasts a marshmallow in chemistry.

CTE prepares students for The Real World

Career and Technical Education classes play a big role in the education of students at Loretto High. While core classes prepare students for college, CTE classes prepare for various career options. These classes cover areas such as health science, family and consumer sciences, business, agriculture, and industrial trades such as construction, welding, drafting, and plumbing and electric. Through these programs, students are given the opportunity to earn certifications in their various fields of study. Several students have even received full scholarships to any TTC school of their choice.

One impressive project that CTE classes work together to complete over the year is the GB house. Each year, the general building program builds a home in the community. With the materials supplied by the home owner, this is a great project that allows the students to participate in all aspects of home construction.

CTE classes are important because they give students a better understanding of many career opportunities.

6. Jonathon Belt holds up his dissected frog in Mr. Smith's Biology II class.
7. Mrs. Barnett gets her calculus class up and moving to help them understand a difficult concept.

core classes Up and Moving

From elementary school until senior year, students learn all about the four core subjects which include English, math, history and science. It doesn't matter what anyone plans to do with his or her life, these classes are "essential" to success. Too many times, these classes are completely and utterly boring. However, sometimes a little project, demonstration, or game can turn a tiresome class period into a little bit of fun.

So many things are learned through playing games in classes. Whether it is bingo, Jeopardy, baseball or the egg game, these review games make the class a more fun environment and help students with their grades.

The best thing about science class is the labs that students get to participate in. One of the favorite labs is when Mrs. Bishop's class tie-dyes. Each year she lets her students dye shirts to learn about chemical reactions. This is a project that students look forward to when they take chemistry. Abby Vanderford said, "I even missed the play just so I could color my shirt, and I had a blast!"

Opal's Million Dollar Duck Fall Productions

This year, the Loretto drama department presented two plays in the fall. The Diary of Adam and Eve was a small play performed outside. The play had twenty-one cast members featuring Matt McAfee as Adam, Holly Davis as Eve, and Chelsea Richardson as the snake. "Even though it was stressful with all the rescheduling, it was still a blast!" says Adam (Matt McAfee).

The main fall production, Opal's Million Dollar Duck, was hilarious. The cast of four kept the crowd rolling. Opal (Lindsey Kerstiens) is an old lady who finds and collects junk. Recently she found an ugly painting behind a museum and plans to give it to her best friend, Rosie (Shelby Craig), for her birthday. However, King (Jeremy Olive) and Queenie (Morgan Ingram) discover that this valuable painting had been accidentally thrown out by the museum. They sneak into Opal's shop and plot to take the painting and get the reward money. One of the most memorable moments was when twin Jonathan Olive gave a cameo performance to pull off a Scooby Doo appearing stunt. When asked about her theater experience, Morgan Ingram replied, "Well, I sure never expected my drama teacher (Brandon Weaver) to be such a drama queen too!"

P theater students take on Pinocchio

The spring production, Pinocchio, was a bit different than past plays. This year drama did a musical where the cast members were staged as props and characters. The class had a total of 40 members who were all excited about the new challenge set before them. "It was tough pullin' those heavy curtains!" quotes junior Heather Pollock.

Since Pinocchio is a children's play, the drama department decided to do two extra performances. Leoma, Sacred Heart, Ethridge, and South Lawrence Elementary schools came to see the play. Senior Josh Johnson said, "The little kids were a great audience to perform for."

Due to all the school missed for bad weather it was difficult to get everything done in the time available, but as always, the production was a huge success. Elizabeth Williams said, "Being in drama is harder than it looks!"

big Change

Each club here at Loretto makes its own impact. This year all the clubs came together to make some big changes. Throughout the school clubs worked to raise money for Relay for Life. Many clubs did projects to contribute to this cause for cancer research. Many ideas were thrown around and a few great projects came out. The most successful project was Mustangs Got Talent. SNAC and the Lunch Ladies did a talent show for the student body to raise money for this great cause. Overall, Loretto High School raised $4,107.41 for Relay for Life.

Another awesome contribution for change was when the school raised money for A Kid's Place. FCCLA sponsored a hat day to "Cap off Child Abuse." Loretto and the other high schools in Lawrence County competed to see who could raise the most money. Loretto raised more than Summertown and Lawrence County High combined. Loretto may be small but when it counts, we make the biggest change.

Archery

Even though it is the first year for Loretto to have an archery team, it has been a very successful year. Sponsors Kristina Springer and Donald Waldrop worked to get funds to purchase the equipment needed for the club's implementation.

The mission of archery is to teach the skill of archery to any student who has the desire to learn. Through organized meetings, practices, and tournaments, this club improves students' safe use of archery equipment, hand eye coordination, and academic improvement.

Although the team only had eleven members, they competed in two invitational meets and went to the state tournament. Garret Fulks says, "Loretto Archery makes other teams quiver!"

Beta

Take a look at the brains of Loretto High School. Yes, it is a great honor to be a part of Loretto High Beta Club. Members must have a 93 average and be either a junior or a senior to be invited to join this honorary club. Beta club's officers are President, Matt McAfee, Co-Vice Presidents, Chance Mattox and Cayman Sanders, and Secretary, Heather Davis.

Every year Beta club splits up into groups and each group goes around to different homes in the community in Loretto and Leoma to collect money for St. Jude's Children's Hospital. This year Beta club collected $4,800 for the hospital. "Going to St. Jude's was a life changing experience and I loved it," says two-year member Hannah Beth Smith.

Chess Society

The Chess Society is one of the new organizations that was formed this year. It was formed with one major goal, to promote an intellectual focus within the student body. The club met regularly to teach the game of chess to any student who had a desire to learn it. Members also engaged in tournaments to attempt to earn a higher rank. One of the major challenges the Chess Society faced was recruiting members. President Tyler Matthews says "Most people see chess as a boring game, but those who have never tried it and who don't really know the meaning of it, can't have an honest opinion. If you never try it, you won't know how much fun it can really be." Elaborating on the subject, sophomore Austin Byrd says "Chess isn't just for nerds. It's for tough guys."

Deca

Distributive Education Clubs of America is a club with a history of over 60 years. DECA has touched the lives of more than ten million students, educators, school administrators, and business professionals. DECA was organized at Loretto High School in 2000. Every year since then, DECA has had students advance from regional competition to state competition. This year, Collin Hooper won first place in retail merchandising at the regional competition and was a competitor at state competition in Franklin, Tennessee.

Elizabeth Brown was first alternate in fashion merchandising. She and Holly Franklin went to state as voting delegates to elect the Tennessee State Officers.

FBLA

Future Business Leaders of America was very active this year doing things for the Lions Home and raising food donations for the food drive. They kicked off the year with the annual scavenger hunt where teams raced across Loretto to collect food for a local food bank. For Halloween they made seasonal gift baskets for the elderly. Then, during Christmas, they celebrated with a party at Ms. Pack's house.

Starting this school year, a select number of FBLA members received the honor of being inducted into the National Business Honors Society. Senior Carley Rogers said, "I'm glad that I was one of the first students from Loretto to be inducted!" The senior members even get a cord to wear on graduation day.

1. Andrew Kerstiens, Mackenzie Self, Cain Smithson, Josh Steadman, and Keeli Allen bring Halloween gift baskets to the elderly
2. The Members of the first National Business Honors Society gather for a group picture.
3. Ally McDow, Heather Davis, and Katherine Pack represent FBLA at 8th grade night.

FCA

The Fellowship of Christian Athletes is an organization that allows students to come together in Christian fellowship. The club meets every Wednesday morning in Mrs. Gillespie's room. The student-led worship and Bible study is a great start to the day. Each week, the club takes prayer requests and praises. They welcome new members with open arms and encourage everyone to share God's love.

Each year, FCA sponsors See You At the Pole, a national day of prayer for students of all ages. This day is an opportunity for students to gather around our flag pole and pray for fellow students, community, and government. "It was amazing to see that many people up so early to praise God," said junior Jarret Lee.

1. Loretto High School students gather around the flag pole at the front of the school for praise and worship during See You At the Pole.

2. FCA members make posters to support their school.

3. Members gather together to chat before worship begins.

FCCLA

This year was full of changes for the Loretto High chapter of Family, Career, and Community Leaders of America. FCCLA is a leadership and service organization, and they have certainly accomplished their goals. This year, the organization supported three new charities: Angel Tree, Children's Miracle Network, and A Kids Place, each of which are aimed at helping children. Another first for FCCLA this year was having two groups place at the state level STAR Events competition. Chelsea Barnett, Morgan Burks, Kady Nash, Rebecca Hardiman, Tiffany Simbeck, and Blue Imbraguglio are set to attend the national competition in early July. Excited about the trip, Rebecca Hardiman says "All of our hard work paid off. We're going to California!"

First Row: Morgan Burks, Rebecca Hardiman, Tiffany Simbeck, Ally McDow, and Nikki Creech Second Row: Chelsey Barnett, Rachel Linville, Erica Davis, Ashley Rasberry, Christy Barger, and Colleen Vess Third Row: Sumika Box, Lori Robertson, Rachel Freeman, Courtney Smith, Blue Imbraguglio, and Lauren Graves Fourth Row: Kasey Ellis, Brittany Shelton, Hannah Cozart, Chelsea Frye, Kenna O'Brien, Shay Stutts, and Samantha Beckman

1. Ashley Rasberry, Morgan Burks, and Tiffany Simbeck prepare gifts for Angel Tree. 2. Colleen Vess, Morgan Burks, Tiffany Simbeck, Brooke Simbeck, Rebecca Hardiman, and Rachel Freeman tell a bedtime story at Camp Clements. 3. Advisor Vikki Bosheers poses with STAR Events winners Morgan Burks, Tiffany Simbeck, Rebecca Hardiman, Kady Nash, Chelsey Barnett, and Blue Imbraguglio.

FFA

1. Madison Bennet and Peyton Russ sport their FFA style with their camouflage shirt and cowboy hat.
2. Joey Ferguson attempts to hide from Mr. Waldrop.
3. Senior Megan White rides her horse to show off the state flag.

Future Farmers of America is a club that allows students to learn and participate in agricultural and environmental practices. Throughout the year the club helped with Ride Day, Farm Day, and the Envirothon. When FFA traveled to Gatlinburg, TN for the State Convention Jed Fleming, Jennifer Killen, Megan White, Heather Nolen, and Courtney Atwell received their State Farmer's Degrees.

Whether they are researching the environment or teaching children about animals, FFA always has a good time. When asked how Jennifer Killen liked being in FFA she replied, "Being in FFA has taught me how to work well with others and become a good leader. It has been a great part of my high school experience."

FTA

FTA is a club that teaches its members about learning and teaching, hence the name Future Teachers of America. They sponsor the Teacher Turkey competition, Junk in the Trunk, and Kiss a Senior Goodbye. The Teacher Turkey competition takes place around Thanksgiving. The students buy feathers for their favorite teachers. Coach Putman was this year's winner! The Junk in the Trunk program is held in order to collect school supplies for students in need. The Kiss a Senior Goodbye fundraiser gives students a chance to purchase Hershey's kisses to give to seniors at graduation practice. President Keeli Allen said, "These are my favorite activities in the whole school."

1. Winner Coach Putman proudly sports his turkey hat!
2. Juniors Megan Gordan and Emily Reed sell kisses for Kiss a Senior Goodbye
3. Lois Springer and Kristina Springer count out kisses to fill the seniors' bags.

HOSA

1. Christian Hinson, Skyler Langlois, and Emilie Andrews practice skills in Mrs. Stout's class.
2. Rachel Freeman, Laura Adams, Abby Vanderford, Lila Robertson, Courtney Weldon, and Brittany Mashburn ride the bus on their way to a leadership meeting with Summertown and Lawrence County HOSA.
3. Paige Wilcoxson, Stacey Luna, Stacey Simbeck, and Laura Adams put up a Christmas tree at NHC Scott.

What is so great about HOSA? HOSA is the heart and soul of many students going into the medical field. The club activities are full of fun, community service, and gaining new knowledge. HOSA fills the majority of its time with community service such as Senior Citizen Fair Day, tree decorating at NHC Scott, delivering can tabs to the Ronald McDonald House, and helping the American Red Cross at the fall and spring blood drives. Seniors Brittany Niedergeses and Riley Watson say, "Our favorite part of the fair day was fighting people for a stuffed animal and seeing our patient's eyes light up when we gave it to her."

HOSA is not all business. There are also fun times such as the Christmas Party and the End of the Year Banquet. "The marshmallow shooter was the best present there!" says senior member Cain Smithson.

Interact

Interact is a community service club in which students do different activities to help out their community. The club's first huge activity was associated with the Lawrenceburg Rotary Club. The students in Interact got involved with the fair by taking up tickets at the gates and donating their time to help work. Interact also held a fish fry at Rotary Park to raise money for disabled veterans during which students participated in making drinks and frying food for the community. Interact is a great way for students to get involved with their community and interact socially with others. Vice President, Maegan Jacobs agreed, "Interact is great! I loved being an officer this year. It has been so much fun to get involved and help with my community."

First Row: Katy Brink, Josh Steadman, Riley Watson, Mackenzie Self, Lindsey Kerstiens, Maegan Jacobs, Tiffany Ferguson, Cierra Franklin, Erin Jones, Cain Smithson, Anna Johns, and Sarah Vanderford. Second Row: Chance Mattox, Hannah Newton, Courtney Weldon, Will Gieske, Hannah Beth Smith, Andrew Kerstiens, Jessica Fick, Ali Ferguson, Abby Laws, Dylan Allred, Lindsey Littrell, and Hannah Wright Third Row: Hayley Farrington, Will Bradley, Becca Curtis, Shelby Craig, Tiffany Simbeck, Chelsey Barnett, Heather Creekmore, Brittany Shelton, Brenda Sanchez, and Kassie Hughes. Fourth Row: Danielle Daughtry, Chasse Sawyer, Rebecca Hardiman, Ally McDow, Maria Brink, Celsey Hunt, Rianna Watson, Cayman Sanders, Carley Rogers, Ashley Johns, and Madison Bennett. # SkillsUSA

SkillsUSA is an organization that tries to better the environment by serving the community. They are always thinking of others and putting the community first. The 2011 Habitat for Humanity home was the fifth one that Loretto High School's Skills club has helped construct.

The club also made thank you cards to show appreciation to our veterans for serving our country. Cards were given to the veterans who attended our Veterans' Day program and some were sent to the VA Hospital in Nashville.

Skills also competes in many areas. This year's Skills competition ended with Cole McDougal placing 2nd in plumbing and Jessica Vaughn placing 3rd for the Sharon Melton Myers Spirit Award. When asked about Skills Ethan Fowler says, "Skills is a great club because I get to bond with my boys while helping in the community."

SNAC

SNAC, the Student Nutrition Advisory Club, is sponsored by Loretto's head lunch lady Mrs. Pattie Bryan. The students involved in the club stayed busy both semesters with service projects such as helping the lunch ladies serve Christmas and Thanksgiving dinners to the guests who attended. The members brought in food for the Food Pantry to help out the community. The main project for the SNAC club was sponsoring a school-wide talent show to raise money for the Relay for Life foundation.

SNAC club also headed up school spirit by holding games in the cafeteria during homecoming week and participating in activities throughout the year. Senior Ali Ferguson said, "SNAC was the funnest club I was in my senior year. I wish I would have joined it earlier. I will definitely miss all the adorable little lunch ladies!!" The SNAC club did all they could to make a difference for the students and their community.

1. Amber Belt wraps a present for the Angel Tree.
2. Abby Vanderford and Chance Mattox count money collected for a student in need.
3. Gerrie Bunt helps paint a section of the hallway that was in need of a little touch up.

Students in Student Council include class officers and other members involved in making Loretto High a clean and wonderful environment.

Student Council is mainly full of community service projects for the needy. Angel Tree is the biggest project every year. At basketball games, the members go around and collect money for children that will not have a Christmas without help. This year, $3,000 was raised to buy gifts for twenty-five kids to have a Christmas.

The other activities throughout the year were picking up trash on the football field, painting lockers for the football team, helping with Oktoberfest, working the Freshmen orientation night, and when needed taking up money for kids that have had a loss in the family or have been in accidents. Josh Steadman says, "I love representing my school through student council."

WITT

"We're In This Together" is a club that encourages LHS students to be drug free. The main event that WITT sponsors is Red Ribbon week. During the last week of October, WITT members organize activities for students in an effort to promote drug abuse awareness. This year, WITT at Loretto High collaborated with WITT at both South Lawrence and Leoma to have the same dress up days. Phrases such as "Say 'Boo' to Drugs" and "Hugs not Drugs" encouraged students to have a little fun with the fight against drug abuse.

WITT also posts a banner in the cafeteria giving students the opportunity to pledge to stay drug free. In signing this pledge students are saying, "We're in this together to stay drug free and safe as we work to successfully graduate from Loretto High School."

Boys' & Girls' State

1. Keeli Allen and her city partners pose for a group picture.

2. Will Gieske takes a photo with a new friend from boys' state.

3. Keeli, Leanne and Abby enjoy dressing up for the inaugural banquet at girls' state.

Boys' State and Girls' State are two programs that allow students to experience and learn about the mechanics of local and state government. It is a great honor for a student to be chosen to represent his or her school at these conventions.

During the convention, students participate in mock elections on the city, county and state levels. There are also several guest speakers. At this year's girls' state, Governor Phil Bredesen encouraged students to pursue political careers. The motto of girls' state became, "Find your balcony people." These are the people who help you, support you and encourage you to reach your full potential.

When asked about his experience, Will Gieske replied, "I really had an awesome time, met a lot of great guys and learned about how the government works. It was a great few days that I am very glad I got to experience."

big Determination

Determination is a great asset we all need to better our lives. It is the tool we can use to defeat discouragement, laziness and procrastination; and is the companion of persistence, willpower and self discipline. It is the inner strength that keeps us on the track toward our goals. The athletes at Loretto are deeply committed to their sports. The students are committed as well with the booming student section, known as "The Black Hole."

With great determination, the Mustangs have gone very far in their high school careers. Several seniors have received scholarships and signed to play their sports in colleges such as Martin Methodist, University of Memphis, and Vol State. However, they will never forget the successes they have achieved and the memories they have made here at Loretto High School.

Early predictions for the three time defending District 12 champions were low. Having graduated four seniors on the boys' team and two on the girls' team, underclassmen golfers had to step up quickly. And they did, winning most of their regular season matches made the team one of the front runners going into the district tournament. Unfortunately, those hopes were extinguished when the team finished 4th out of 15 teams, missing the regional tournament by two strokes. There were some good highlights as senior Joel Conway was first place individual medalist and Ross Blair advanced as an individual to the regional tournament. At the Regional Tournament, Conway finished in a 4-way tie for 2nd, advancing him to the state tournament. Blair had a heart-breaking 3rd place finish, missing the big tournament by one stroke.

The LHS Girls' Golf Team has been down for a few years. However, the future looks bright. With two freshmen girls on the team, Coach Weaver is hopeful. "For some reason, most girls do not come out for the team until later in their high school career. These young ladies show a lot of potential, and it is great to have four years to be able to work with them."

"Boom! Get you Some!"

After scoring a point, the team meets in the middle of the court to celebrate.

Just like any true team of competitors, the 2010 LHS Volleyball team set their goal for the season to go all the way to state. With new coach, Samantha Childress, the girls made it all the way to sub-state and ended with a 22-15 record. Throughout the season, the girls demonstrated the concept of "bringin' it" to the court and always played together as more than just teammates. "Even though the season didn't turn out like we hoped, the one thing we did get out of the whole season is sisterhood. We got so close over the year," says senior Becca Curtis.

Not only did the girls achieve success as a team, but they also received individual honors as well. Juniors Tynesha Campbell and Elizabeth Hemmen, and Sophomore Makenzie Childress made the All District Team with Makenzie receiving MVP. At the next level, Elizabeth and Makenzie also made All Region Team.

When asked about the season, junior Tynesha Campbell commented, "We definitely had our ups and downs on the court, but this year was the funniest! We had a lot of great times."

"Marching for our own Drummer"

Just like every year, this 2010-2011 school year has created many memories for the Loretto High School Marching Band. From the grueling hot week of band camp to the freezing cold victory at the Richland game, this marching season is one to be remembered. Little moments such as practicing after school, performing at games and competitions, forgetting shoes, gloves, and even mouth pieces contribute to the comradery of the members. One of the greatest memories will be marching with other high school bands and the Pride of

For the seniors, it was a bittersweet year. While they might be excited to leave and go on to the next chapters of their lives, they are still saddened to leave so many memories behind them. More importantly, they will be leaving people who have looked up to them for friendship and leadership. Freshman Nikki Rohling said, "Band just won't be the same without my favorite group of seniors."

"The Boys of Fall"

This year was a great year for our LHS football team. When asked how he felt about the season, junior Dylan Cotton said, "Even though we had the number 1 toughest schedule in the state, we got better each week." The season might have ended with just a 2-10 record, but the boys worked hard and practiced with all they had. Coach Busby pushed the players to be the best they could be and when game time came, they gave it their all.

The team has done a great job of representing our school and what our school stands for. To show their school spirit, the football team gathered to sing the Alma Mater on the field after every home game. After away games, the team sang while pulling onto the campus. Coach Busby feels that singing the Alma Mater shows school pride and it is important for the players to share this pride.

No matter what our winning or losing streak is, our team will always have their heads up and never lose faith. Due to this year's leadership and young talent, the Mustangs are looking ahead to the possibilities that next season has to offer if they continue to improve.

"Go, Fight, Win"

This cheerleading season brought plenty of triumphs that made each cheerleader stronger. Loyal to the football and basketball teams, the cheerleaders cheered on their teams through many victories and through the losses too. This year the cheerleaders attended cheer competition and won the 2nd place trophy in the cheer and dance division. Our LHS cheerleaders were thrilled with their victory and take pride in their achievements.

On March 9, 2011, the cheerleaders traveled with the girls' basketball team to the state tournament at MTSU and helped cheer on the team's win and advancement to the finals. Sophomore cheerleader Holly Franklin said, "It was exciting to cheer at the state tournament, and our school showed great spirit." Through good and bad, the Loretto High School Mustang Cheerleaders support our school proudly!

"Mustang Ballers"

During the 2010-2011 season, the Boys' Basketball team won almost half of their games. The boys gained respect for one another and learned that teamwork was more important than displaying their individual talents. Sophomore Tays Robertson said, "This year we worked and played hard and made a lot of progress, but next year the district tournament is not going to be the limit. We will see you in Murfreesboro."

The boys even tried on the old basketball uniforms. Bringing in some of the past and making a better future is one of the team's goals this year. Hard work and determination were two of the many positive traits that the team focused on and displayed on the court.

What can be described as incredible? The Lady Mustangs basketball team! They overcame many obstacles throughout the season including benching one top player and almost losing an important starter. These girls worked harder than ever to move their way to the top, finishing with a win-loss record of 28-8. They were District Champion and brought SubState to the Barn. With the SubState win against Moore County, the team landed a spot in the state tournament. It has been ten years since Loretto's lady basketball team has been to state. Playing with all their heart, the team made it to the Final Four. This Lady Mustangs' basketball season will be a season hard to forget!

When asked to give a quote to sum up the season, the team all agreed, "Some form a team. But in our case, we form a family. We go through it all, suffer through it all, and we come together through it all."

Even though the baseball team had a pretty honorable season, many felt that it did not turn out as successful as they had hoped. However, the team did their best and gave it their all. With an 18-12 record, the team finished with a winning season. Senior players Colton Simbeck, Jake Shadix, and Justin Lumpkins made the All District Team. Then, Colton and Jake went on to the make the All Tournament Team as well.

When the players hit the field they remembered their motto, "Till I Collapse." This meant they gave it all until they could not give anymore.

"It's all about the Pitch!"

This 2010-2011 softball team was something to be remembered. The team had many struggles this year. The girls learned from new coaches and coped with the loss of their varsity pitcher due to injury. One thing they learned was to keep their heads high when they stepped on and off the field. When asked about her softball experience this year, senior Erin Jones stated, "This season had its ups and downs, but we all stuck together and made it through. I love and will miss all of my teammates." The girls had many accomplishments this year with Becca Curtis, Tyanesha Campbell, and Elizabeth Hemmen making the All District team. The girl's softball team made this a great year.

"Get a Kick out of This"

The 2010 Soccer season did not go as well as all the players had hoped. Although they did not have as many wins as they would have liked, they did have fun and really enjoyed playing. The team possessed great determination and all the hard work eventually paid off when they pulled in a few wins this season. Under the guidance of Mrs. Kay Busby the team came out ready to play and was eager to hopefully have a successful season. Senior Leanne Neel said, "I had a good year playing, and I will miss the sport very much." The girls played with passion and ended the season with a three and fourteen record. The girls wins were two games against East Hickman and one against Waynesboro. Many tears were shed, but the girls never gave up and they knew they had given their best effort.

- 1 Senior Kady Nash shows off her offensive skills by nailing the ball.
- 2 Sophomore Ashlee Elkins waits on the ball in hopes of getting it down the field.
- 3 Sophomore Alli McDow battles with an opposing player.

S O C C E R

The 2011 boys' soccer team had some wins and some losses, but they always played with heart. They had some huge accomplishments this season including the win against Lawrence County and senior Tanner Looney receiving an athletic scholarship to Martin Methodist. Some of the seniors had started together as freshmen and were sad to see the season end.

Soccer requires endurance and hard work, which this Loretto Soccer team possesses. With the talented underclassmen planning to return next year, Loretto's soccer team should get better and better. If anyone is playing against Loretto, they definitely have some huge competition ahead of them.

Don't Forget

Forget about the days when it's been cloudy, but don't forget your hours in the sun. Forget about the times you've been defeated, but don't forget the victories you've won. Forget about mistakes that you can't change now, but don't forget the lessons that you've learned. Forget about misfortunes you've encountered, but don't forget the times your luck has turned. Forget about the days when you've been lonely, but don't forget the friendly smiles you've seen. Forget about plans that didn't seem to work out right, but don't forget to always have a dream."

The Best Days

As the days of being a LHS student come to an end for the class of 2011, seniors are filled with a mixture of excitement for the future and nostalgia for the years they have spent together. The final days for seniors at LHS consist of awards day, finals, the senior breakfast and graduation practice. However, all these events are merely precursors to the main event, graduation. It is the ultimate goal of the high school experience.

Even though this class of seniors may be smaller, they have had a great impact on the school. Excellence in the classroom, leadership for sports teams, and talent in the arts are just a few of the areas where the class of 2011 has left their mark on Loretto High School.

While the students gather for graduation, the library fills with hugs and laughter. Groups of friends gather for pictures in their cap and gown. All the memories of the last four years seem to live and breathe as graduates march onto the field. When asked how she felt about graduation, Ali Ferguson replied, "I am excited but I don't want to leave my friends. I am going to miss seeing them everyday. We have had so many good times!" The class song, Corey Smith's "I'm Not Gonna Cry" said it best with the lyric, "These have been the best years of my life, so I'm not gonna cry."

left: Josh Thompson steadies his tassel to keep it from hitting him in the face.

Announcements

Beep beep, Good Morning Loretto High School. How many times over the last four years have we heard that statement? Four lonnnnnng years we have either listened quietly, or not been able to hear these morning announcements. What day can get going without these vital announcements telling us the same things we already know? Or, maybe it's just a reminder that, if I'm not in class yet, I'm actually late. The announcements told us what we had in store for that day. Mrs Pattie's voice would tell us what we would wait in line for at lunch as well as what we would fight over on the dessert bar. More often than not, she would lecture us about cleaning up after ourselves. We would listen to the same old warnings about going to homeroom "now" or not sneaking out with the bus riders. Mr. Burns' voice would continuously remind us of the scholarships to apply for and about the ACT test coming soon to a school near you.

The announcements, no matter how pointless we thought they were got us here. The morning announcements got us to this point where we throw our hats and start our new lives. If Mrs Borum had not announced that we were to meet in the library for second chance and make-up time, some of us would not be here tonight. If Mrs Pattie had not told us what was for lunch, some of us would have croaked over trying to guess. Or maybe we would have asked the poor teachers so much THEY would have croaked over. If Mr. Burns had not told us where our testing room was we would've failed the countless Gateways, EOCs, and ACTs. If that little box in every room didn't tell us when a fake fire was burning the school down, or when an imaginary tornado was ripping the roof off, we wouldn't know how to handle all the little emergencies life might throw at us.

My point is every announcement that stopped us in our tracks, has also kept us in line. Each had a major role in getting us to this field.

You probably think you will never hear that "beep beep" again. But don't worry, you will. You all will continue to hear these little speakers everyday. These announcements from all our years of high school will continue to play in our minds. Now, instead of hearing what Tshirt is on sale or when the next Beta Club meeting is, we will hear announcements like "pay the phone bill," "make good choices," and "Your momma doesn't work here." Some of our announcements will be from our parents like "be nice," and "call home." Some will even be from our teachers such as "study," and "go to class!" In this way, these announcements, will do more than get us through high school. They will get us through life. Listen to Life's Announcements.

5. The newly graduated class of 2011 celebrates by throwing their mortar boards into the air. 6. Spencer Robins heads back to his seat. 7. Several seniors relish the moment as they wait for the procession to end. 8. Nicole Moore pauses for a picture with her diploma.
